

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT SugarLove Pictures captured the couple as they walked with their bridal party at Bondi Beach. That's My Cake made a three-tiered cake that suited their colour themes. The couple cut the cake with a knife given to them by the bride's mother Trish Pidcock.

Beachside romance

EMILY PIDCOCK & STEPHEN JOSEPH
JANUARY 12, 2008
ST JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC CHURCH, EDGECLIFF, NSW

Simplicity Stephen proposed to Emily on a mountain top near his family's home and they wed six months later at St Joseph's in Edgecliff. "We liked that the church was intimate and simple. We wanted the focus to be on the ceremony so we kept the decorations simple," says the bride. After exchanging vows, the couple celebrated with 135 guests at Nick's Bondi Beach Pavilion. "We didn't want to take away from the beautiful view so we used soft pastel colours and small candles for a romantic look," says Emily.

Soft pastel treat The couple selected a three-tiered cake with soft pink, green and white icing and flower decorations from That's My Cake. "Everybody loved the cake and it fit perfectly with the colours we chose for the wedding." A gift from the bride's mother made cake cutting even more special, says the bride. "My mum gave us a silver knife engraved with our names, the date and 'forever'." In keeping with tradition, the couple are saving the top layer of the cake for the christening of their first child.

Unique elegance When deciding on a dress, the bride says, "I knew I wanted something elegant and unique and I wanted something I could dance in. Hilde Heim and her team created a beautiful gown for me." A long gauzy veil and bouquet of white hydrangeas from Flowers by Teresa completed Emily's look. "I wanted something that was soft and delicate to match the ruffle on my dress," says the bride.

sources list

FLOWERS BY TERESA
flowersbyteresa.com.au
HILDE HEIM (GOWN)
hildeheim.com
NICK'S BONDI BEACH PAVILION
(RECEPTION)
nicks-seafood.com.au
SUGARLOVE PICTURES
sugarlovecakes.com/
weddings
THAT'S MY CAKE
thatsmycake.com.au

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT The bridesmaids carried a cheerful mix of coloured hydrangeas created by Flowers by Teresa. The happy couple were photographed by SugarLove Pictures. "I decided on a skirt and top so that the bridesmaids could get as much wear as possible out of the outfits," says the bride. The bride's finishing touches. One of the bridesmaids pours a glass of champagne to get the party started.

